Hustonville mayor withdraws from election

Spivey

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

HUSTONVILLE — Hustonville Mayor Marc Spivey has withdrawn from the coming election and will not seek a new term.

Former Hustonville Mayor Larry "Pup" Doss filed as a write-in candidate for the seat on Monday, but said he was unaware that Spivey had withdrawn until he filed his write-in papers.

County Clerk George Spoonamore told The Interior Journal on Monday that Spivey had withdrawn. The form showing Spivey's official withdrawal was submitted to Spoonamore's office Oct. 10.

"His name will still appear on the ballot," Spoonamore said. "But when those votes come in, they will not be counted."

Spivey, who was running unopposed, has given no specific reason for withdrawing and said Tuesday morning he has no comment.

When asked if he would finish out his current term as mayor, Spivey said, "I guess you'll find out."

Spivey's withdrawal means Doss, who served as Hustonville mayor prior to Spivey's predecessor, Cecil Maddox, was running unopposed as the only write-in candidate as of Tuesday afternoon.

Maddox resigned unexpectedly at the end of Hustonville's regularly scheduled meeting in March. Spivey, who was on the city council at the time, was voted into the mayor's seat by his fellow council members.

Spoonamore said Tuesday afternoon one other person has called his office expressing interest in becoming a write-in candidate for the Hustonville mayor seat, but the person did not give out a name.

The deadline to file as a write-in candidate is noon Oct. 27.

Spivey's departure will mark the third major person-

Stanford police track down escapee

By Ben Kleppinger

STANFORD — Stanford police officers tracked down Oct. 10 a man who escaped from a Louisville correctional facility Oct. 8.

After Louis Taylor, 24, went missing from the Louisville facility Oct. 8, police initiated a search and told the public they considered him dangerous, according to reports.

Taylor contacted Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger Oct. 9 and agreed to turn himself in the next morning at the sheriff's office, according to Folger.

But Taylor never turned himself in as planned. Folger said he was in contact with Taylor again Oct. 10 but Taylor was "throwing some curveballs" in regards to what he was planning to do next.

Taylor is well-known to law enforcement officers in the Lincoln County area, Detective Joe Gilliland said Thursday.

Officer Tim Morris was checking several locations Taylor was known to frequent when he found the escapee at Logan Trace apartments on the east side of Stanford, Gilliland said.

Contrary to some reports that said Taylor turned himself in, Gilliland said Stanford police re-captured Taylor.

Morris and officer Preston Middleton arrested Taylor and he was lodged in the Lincoln County Regional Jail.

Taylor was transferred to the Metropolitan Department of Corrections in Louisville Oct. 10, where he remained in custody Tuesday.

It makes sense that Polish native Ela Ladwig would eventually make her way to the rolling hills of central Kentucky.

For an equine artist like Ladwig, there may be no better location on the planet than in the heart of the Bluegrass.

Ludwig was born in Poland and has lived in Scotland, England and California. Now, she calls a scenic 60-acre horse farm tucked away in the middle of Lincoln County her home.

Post offices in Waynesburg, McKinney to reduce hours

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

Post Office officials hear this week from members of the Waynesburg and McKinney communities about plans to scale back the number of hours their rural post offices are open for business.

The United States Postal Service announced in May plans to reduce hours of operation for retail windows at approximately 13,000 small post offices, including 421 post offices in Kentucky.

The Waynesburg Post Office's retail window would be open six hours a day and McKinney's would be open two hours a day under the plan.

Both locations are currently open for eight hours a day.

The plan also calls for a reduction in retail window hours at the Kings Mountain Post Office from eight to four hours a day, but Kings Mountain Postmaster Richie Richey said that plan won't take effect for another two years.

Waynesburg and McKinney customers have received surveys in the mail asking them about their post-office use and announcing public meetings to discuss the proposed cutbacks.

McKinney's public meeting was held at the McKinney Post Office Wednesday afternoon. Waynesburg's public meeting is scheduled for 12 p.m. Friday at Double Springs Baptist Church's fellowship hall.

Richey said the meetings are part of the USPS' effort to determine which hours would be best to be open in each community.

The plan to reduce hours at small post offices is an effort to avoid closing them entirely, according to a press release from the USPS.

While retail window hours will be reduced, P.O. box and retail lobby

By Stephanie Mojica

FRANKFORT — In less than two weeks, the state fire marshal's office could decide the fate of the Hustonville Haunted House.

Building owner Paul Gray and his attorney Daniel Elliott, of Danville, Hustonville Mayor Marc Spivey, Fire Chief Jimmy Lane and Lincoln County Attorney Daryl Day had a hearing Oct. 10 at the Office of the State Fire Marshal in Frankfort. Hearing Officer Mike Powers, who has more than 40 years of legal experience, presided over the hearing.

Since February, Gray and Hustonville officials have been at odds over the fate of the historic building located at 9837 E. Main St. In February, a portion of the wall collapsed and city officials closed off a portion of Old Liberty Road in an effort to protect residents.

Presidents don't control gas prices

"There are three kinds of lies: lies, damn lies and statistics," Mark Twain famously wrote in his autobiography.

What isn't quite so famous is that Twain's aphorism borrowed from a 19th century Russian who commented, "There are three kinds of lie: a small lie, a big lie, and politics."

The two versions have been joined this campaign year in the irrational discussion about the emotional issue of gasoline prices.

As contenders during the Republican primary fought to outdo each other in their anti-Obama fervor, the convenient fact arose that gas prices had doubled during the president's tenure.

Mitt Romney, now the party's nominee, has taken up the cry as one of his talking points and it's been adopted by a host of others.

It's a claim that can be supported through a narrow statistical lens.

When Obama took office in January of 2009, in the heart of the largest economic downturn since the Great Depression, gas prices had sunk to an average of $1.353 a gallon.

However, a slightly longer lens provides a different truth. During the first month, even the first days, Obama was president, gas prices were more than $2 a gallon lower than months earlier when George W. Bush was president.

Indeed, average prices in 2009 and 2010, the first two years of Obama's presidency, were lower than the averages during the last two years of Bush's term. (All historical numbers from the U.S. Energy Information Administration, www.eia.gov.)

What is the truth in all these statistics?

It's simply that, as Fox News and other conservative outlets asserted when prices skyrocketed while Republicans were trying to hold onto the White House, the president doesn't control gas prices.

That truth seems to have evaporated in the four years since. Many of the same sources are now hounding Obama about gas prices.

But they were right the first time. When oilman Bush was president prices fluctuated just as they have under Obama.

Oil prices, which drive gasoline prices, are affected by a wide range of factors that most of us can agree are out of the control of any U.S. president: the weather, wars, political tensions and global market forces like recessions.

Federal energy policy will in the long term affect our economy and voters should give deep consideration to Obama's policies and those proposed by Romney.

But warping statistics to scare voters over a hot-button issue like gasoline prices confirms the observation that politics is a step below even big lies.

Court proceedings against 'Muslims' filmmaker must walk fine free-speech line

There's nothing in the First Amendment that says we have to like Mark Basseley Youssef. Or Nakoula Basseley Nakoula. Or Sam Bacile. Or Nicola Bacily.

Those names all appear to apply to the same person, the man behind production of the controversial, crudely done video that has angered Muslims worldwide.

But the 45 words of the First Amendment do require that we protect Youssef's rights, under whatever name, to express views and hold opinions that others find offensive without fear of being silenced or targeted by the government.

And with much of the world operating under a very different concept — and often under different laws — regarding the scope of free-speech protection, we need to keep in mind that what happens here to unpopular speakers can easily be misunderstood elsewhere by the unknowing, or distorted by the dictatorial.

In Youssef's case, the novice filmmaker is also a convicted criminal, having pleaded "no contest" in 2010 to a credit-card fraud charge involving the use of fake names. He was sentenced to 21 months in prison, but was released on parole in June 2011 with conditions barring him from accessing the Internet without approval and from using any name other than his legal name.

INSIDE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

The video, "Innocence of Muslims" portrays Islam's revered Prophet Muhammad as a religious fraud and sexual deviant. Youssef was arrested last month and charged with lying to federal investigators who in the wake of fatal rioting overseas were looking into production of the video. Prosecutors claim Youssef applied for a passport under one name, applied for a driver's license under another name, and used a third name in connection with the video.

On Oct. 10, Youssef denied violating his probation conditions. He's being held without bail because officials fear he'll flee the U.S., in part to hide from Muslim extremists who have vowed to kill him for his blasphemery.

If prosecutors can prove in court that that Youssef is Nakoula is Bacile or Bacily, the situation would seem fairly straightforward. He violated terms of parole. Back to jail.

But like the very Middle East conflict into which the man has thrust himself, little is "straightforward" about this situation, including his legal predicament and its implications for free expression in the U.S.

Youssef's prosecution for violating parole conditions seems to have moved extraordinarily quickly in comparison to the usual pace in such cases. Some claim the White House is pushing the case "through the back door" to do what it cannot do openly: punish Youssef for producing a film that U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton called "disgusting and reprehensible."

As for Youssef's potential violations, such prosecutions take place every day. If federal officials had not reacted, it's likely that critics would be attacking them for doing nothing.

But bearing the gold standard of free speech internationally also means special obligations for the United States. What some may see as a procedural response to a parolee's misstep may instead echo worldwide as mere subterfuge for circumventing our basic freedoms.

U.S. District Judge Christina Snyder has scheduled a evidentiary hearing for Nov. 9 as the next step in Youssef's saga. The judge is walking a fine line. Move too quickly and the matter will be seen as appeasement to those who want Youssef kept in jail and as a repudiation of centuries of U.S. free-speech protection. Move too slowly and Youssef likely remains jailed — with the same effect.

The challenge for Judge Snyder and for prosecutors is to keep the process moving, as transparently as possible, and to separate the parole issues from the political ones. Holding bigoted religious views is indeed reprehensible — but not illegal. If the government wants to prosecute Youssef on a charge of deliberately and directly inciting violence with his video — if proven, one of the few, very narrow legal restrictions on free speech — it should do so, and make its case in public.

The First Amendment is not a shield for lawbreakers, but it is one against government officials who would use the letter of the law to void the shelter of its 45 words.

An encouraging word

That's life

By Howard Coop

The morning dawned bright and beautiful. There was not a cloud in the sky, and birds were singing joyfully everywhere. In that idyllic moment, everything seemed just right. From my perspective, it looked like the beginning of a perfect day.

As the morning hours passed, the day appeared to get even prettier. Then, by early afternoon, there was a little change. A few white, fluffy clouds began to develop, and they floated overhead, just enough to add more beauty and a little contrast to the blue sky.

After a bit, I took note of the fact that another change was occurring. It began to look a little darker than usual, and the darkness seemed to increase by the moment. The sun had gone behind one of the fluffy clouds, a little larger and a little darker than the other ones. The day, for a little while, did not look nearly as bright and beautiful as it had looked earlier. By the end of the day, things changed more dramatically. Dark and threatening clouds lowered in the sky.

That's life, isn't it? For a while, things go along exceedingly well, and troubles appear to be nowhere near. We are somewhat like the little silk-weaver in Robert Browning's drama, PIPPA PASSES. We trip through the beautiful morning with a happy song on our lips and a cheerful feeling in our hearts that "God's in his heaven - All's right with the world." Then, when we least expect it, things change. Reality hits hard, and troubles, for which we are unprepared, develop.

A few years ago while Kathryn was still able to move about with a walker, we went to the Kentucky Depot for our evening meal. At the entrance, Kathryn's muscles gave way, and she fell at the feet of a man we had never seen. Almost as soon as she hit the floor, his strong arms lifted her to her feet.

When troubles come - and they surely will, we are not alone. Friends, and even strangers, are there to help. And they will.

News from Fairview Baptist Church

By Shelby Lakes
Sunday’s service at Fairview began with a baptism, and continued with special music from Gift of Grace, a group composed of Ruby Toombs and Judy Leather, who are from Danville.
Then Joy Bolton spoke about WMU (Woman’s Missionary Union), an organization that she said challenges believers to carry out the Great Commission and to keep the mission’s mandate before the churches. She said WMU has six objectives: to lead churches to pray for missions; to support missions; to engage in mission action and witnessing; to learn about missions; to grow spiritually toward missions lifestyle; and to participate in the work of the church and denomination.

For much more information about WMU, visit www.wmu.com.
Fairview’s Fall Revival will be Oct. 21-28. Bro. Lester Tirey will be our guest.

A fund-raiser to benefit our Haiti team will be held at Walmart on Oct. 19 and 20. Items offered for sale will include baked goods.
Jimmy Henderson celebrated his birthday. Celebrating their anniversaries were Evonna and Ranny McGuffey, Wayne and Katie Terry, Gary and Linda Peck, and Sam and Kathy Wood.

News from Green River Pentecostal Church

By Hannah Walls, on behalf of Sis. Georgia Lewis
The Thanksgiving season is a time of giving thanks for the blessings God has bestowed upon us. This past Sunday at Green River we were able to pay tribute to our amazing pastor, Bro. Rick Naylor. His amazing character and leadership helps hold together the fabric of our church. It was an honor to thank him and his family for their hard work and dedication to not only our congregation, but also to our community. We celebrated the day with a wonderful message from Bro. Webbie Williams (the original founder of the orphanage in Haiti), and a wonderful homecooked potluck dinner. The children in the church worked very hard with their teachers, Sis. Brooke and Sis. Bethany, to make a very scrumptious card for a “Whopper” of a preacher, who is worth “100 grand.”

With the children’s pastors, Bro. Johnny and Sis. Sheila Walls, the children presented the pastor with a book that was written by all of the children from ages 3-18.
The ladies at GRPC would like to remind the Ladies Care and Share group that there will be a business meeting this Sunday at 5 p.m. FYI-these meetings are held on the third Sunday of each month at the same time, so ladies mark those calendars.
The youth are leaving out this Saturday morning to head for Kings Island. If you haven’t signed up please contact Bro. James Carrier. You won’t want to miss this trip. Be safe and have fun!
Please be in prayer for Bro. O.C. Robbins who is currently under care at the Golden LivingCenter and would appreciate your prayers. Also, continue in prayer for those under the weather, and for our church, community, leadership and service men and women. Let us not forget to pray often for Israel.

Think on this: “Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him, and bless His name” (Psalm 100:4). How much more effective would it be to enter the gates with Thanksgiving. Instead of walking into church for a pep rally expecting to be lifted up, walking into the church thankful and rejoicing in the goodness of the Lord, blessing His name. What if, through our tribulations we found reasons to thank God and praise Him? He knows our needs before we do, so what if we simply thanked Him even in the difficult times, even when we had to think of something to be thankful for? Talk about a victory, talk about a prepared victor! Be safe and be THANKFUL!

Highland United Methodist Church news

Sunday, Oct. 14, was a bright, blustery day at Highland United Methodist.
Prayer requests were for the Hank Senior family due to Hank’s death; Violet James’ niece, Joyce James Cain, unexpected death; Sharon Carrier (bypass surgery); and Judy Johnson (return of illness). Regina Henderson requested prayer for Ashley’s father-in-law.
Our congregation was glad to see the return of Peter and Susie Langford. They are always missed when gone. Peter read the scripture from 2 Timothy 2:8-15. Peter could use our prayers, too; since, his back was causing him some pain.
Topics lifted up from the scripture were: Jesus is alive; He is from the lineage of David; the Word of God is not bound; if we die, we shall reign with Him; if we deny, He will deny; if we are faithless, He is faithful; avoid disputing words and present yourself to God as one rightly handling the word of truth.
There was a trustees meeting after worship.
Also, there was choir practice.
Oct. 21, next Sunday, is the homecoming date. There is to be singing from the choir with soloists being Rebecca and Chaz Garcia and Dawn Cheatham. Other singers will be Phyllis Stewart (Louisville). She is to be a guest with Mayme Hutchison Cordier. Frankie and Buddy Young’s daughter-in-law, Elsa, will be bringing violin specials. A harpist from Wilmore is expected. Dawn Cheatham and son, Isaac Hughes will be singing, and Doris Scillely with be singing, “Heaven”, a song she and her dad used to sing.

As one can tell, the day will be filled with joy and praise along with poetry from our own Jo Ann Elliott.

Afterwards, God’s children will share in a fulfilling homecoming meal.
Come and join us for a short Sunday school at 10 a.m. for worship will begin at 10:45. Come early; so, you won’t miss any events! Bring a BIG heart for the Lord is going to fill it to over-flowing.

Magistrate District #2

In selecting a person for a job, you naturally want to fill that position with the most qualified person, one who has the most experience and knowledge of that position. I have served the people of Lincoln County for 24+ years, 20 as Magistrate and four as Mayor of Crab Orchard, twelve of those years as Deputy Judge Executive. When something needs doing, I know the way to get it done, most of the time right away, where a new person would have to take time to run it through the channels. I know the contacts in Frankfort and I am not afraid to ask for things. It's just a few days until Election Day. Will you please elect and let me use my experience helping you and the citizens of Lincoln County for the next two years. I am still working hard to try and see as many of you as possible. If I can not get to you, please know that I want and need your vote and support.

Thanks, Bill Dyehouse

News from the Stanford Nazarene Church

By Buford Edwards II

Sunday morning, Stanford Church of the Nazarene was blessed by the wonderful worship service as we celebrated our first annual homecoming. Bro. Buford challenged us as he brought the message from Matthew 20, titled “Momma’s Boys.” After the service, we gathered in the fellowship hall for a great meal prepared by the ladies, and finished up back at the church for a time of song and testimony.

Evening services were cancelled.

Come out Wednesday night for Christian Education Night. The kids meet weekly and the adult class dubbed, “THE BOOK” club is currently working through the book of Revelation.

This week we will begin our study of Rev. 20. Read up and join us for Bible study as we discuss “The Marriage Supper of the Lamb” as well as the verse of the week: Rev. 20:1-3 (KJV): And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years, And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.

Thought for the week: Satan is at work today, but his end will come.

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message.

Our sister church, LaFayette Church of the Nazarene in Lexington will hold revival services Oct.

21-24 with Dr. Gary HENCECKE. Dr. HENCECKE was pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Nashville, Tenn., from March 1994 through the beginning of this year, marking the second longest pastorate in the history of Nashville First. Dr. HENCECKE has also pastored in Oregon, Iowa and Michigan. In addition, he also served on the Church of the Nazarene’s general board from 2005-2009. For more information, contact pastor Jared Henry at (859) 278-7213, or via email at lafayette-nazarene@gmail.com.

We will have our annual “Trunk or Treat” in the church parking lot on Saturday, Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. Dress the younguns up and come out for an evening of fellowship and good clean fun!

On Wednesday, Nov. 28, we will be trying something new! Instead of our regular Bible study, we will meet at the fellowship hall for a “Chili Night.” We are opening this up to the entire community as a chance to come eat and receive an encouraging word from Scripture. Hopefully, we will be able to do this once a month. So, make a pot of chili and invite everyone you know to come out and join us!

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Nov. 6.

The men’s group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. The next meeting is Dec. 10 at 7 p.m.

Kings Mountain news

By Violet Bell/Beverly Murphy

I received information from Magdalene Sims concerning a revival meeting which was held at Watson’s Chapel Christian Church on Oct. 4-6. After the end of the meeting, several people gathered at Magdalene’s house in Kings Mountain for a pitch-in meal. Those attending were Paul Patton (the preacher who held the meeting) and his wife Carol Jeane, Joe and Beverly Hatter, Grayson and Kaylin Bradley, Donnie and Gail Stivors, Roy and Faye Snook, Pearl Short and Wilma Hatter. Everyone enjoyed the tasty food and the time spent visiting with family and friends. Since Magdalene was unable to attend the services, it was a special treat for her.

Mary Morgan traveled to Cincinnati, Ohio last Saturday to attend the Morgan Family Reunion. The reunion was held at the John Daner Park with 111 people attending. This is a special park and because of Mary’s grandson’s friendship with the Daner family, he was able to rent the facilities. The meal was catered and everyone enjoyed themselves so very much. Besides eating wonderful food and visiting, there were several forms of entertainment available including singing and karaka. The most important part of the day for Mary was seeing her youngest sister, Leona (known to the family as Dee Dee).

Mary had been unable to see Leona for the past nine years. Mary is from a family of six girls and one boy and she and Leona are the only two remaining today. Needless to say, this was one of the best reunions ever for Mary.

Galen Stull, son of Bruce and Tammy Stull, celebrated his 10th birthday last Sunday with family members. Later in the week he also enjoyed celebrating with his friends at a bowling party. Congratulations Galen!!

Jalen Smith, Jackie Haggard’s grandson, is at home recuperating from his hayride accident. Jalen injured his leg on the hayride and will have to undergo several weeks of therapy. We are thinking about you Jalen.

Evelyn Terry and Barbara Todd Redmon traveled to Mt. Sterling to attend the Mt. Sterling Court Days last Friday. After several hours there, they traveled to Richmond for some shopping and ended their day by enjoying dinner at the Stanford Depot.

I spent the day with Violet Bell last Thursday. After eating lunch together, we traveled to Waynesburg to the Double Springs Cemetery to place flowers on the grave of Sharon Bell, Violet’s much loved daughter. Sharon was born on Oct. 12. Sharon, like her mother, was a beautiful person and I have been blessed by knowing both of them.

Growing with Grace

Grace Fellowship Church ministry update

October has been a busy month at Grace Fellowship Church. Most visible to those passing by or entering our church is the new black-top. We are very thankful to have our parking lot paved before another winter arrives. Special offerings and a benefit concert helped raise most of the money needed for this project. Gifts to the blacktop fund are still welcome.

Children are excited about the new playground, complete with new equipment, fence, and mulch, located at the back of the church just outside the children’s wing. Most of the cost of the playground equipment and labor has been donated. Thanks to everyone who has contributed to this project.

Through the generosity and hard work of some GFC members, the Nursing Home Ministry is back in operation. The wheel chair lift on the bus has been repaired and is once again available to pick up residents of the Golden Living Center to transport them to Sunday morning worship service. Thanks to Phillip Stevens who heads up this ministry and all those who volunteer to drive the bus to keep this ministry going.

Senior Friends traveled to Berea last week to tour the Kentucky Artisan Center. They enjoyed lunch and then stopped by the Amish market. “Seniors” meet on the second Tuesday of each month and will have their next meeting on Nov. 13 at 11 a.m. for a Thanksgiving program. All those age 55+ are invited to attend. See Jeanne Brown for more details.

“Women of Grace,” the career-age ladies of the church, have recently sent care packages to college students who are away from home. Several of the women have just returned from a fall retreat to Gatlinburg. The “Women of Grace” meet on the last Sunday of each month at 6 p.m. for fellowship, devotions and to work on special mission projects. See Dana Muse for more information.

The next mission project for “Women of Grace” will be helping with the community fund-raiser for Jalen Smith which is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28, and the L & N Depot in Stanford. There will be a silent auction, kid’s games, food vendors, a Corn Hole Tournament and much more. See Brooke Stone to volunteer or donate.

Pastor Vola Brown led a special prayer for Jalen and his family before the Sunday morning message. Reports indicate that Jalen is making good progress in his recovery but still needs our prayers as he works to overcome pain and to regain strength in this leg.

Once again, Grace Fellowship will be collecting gift-filled shoeboxes for Operation Christmas Child. These gift boxes demonstrate God’s love and help missionaries who distribute them to share the Good News of Christ. Katherine Hall and Teresa Padgett will be coordinating this project at GFC. Collection week is Nov. 12-19.

Members of the congregation are encouraged to bring items for care packages to be shipped to Air Force troops in Afghanistan in time to arrive before Thanksgiving. We will be enclosing spiritual reading material, along with food and hygiene items. A list of suggested items is at the information center. If you would like to help with this ministry, please bring items in by Oct. 28. See Jean Lewis for more information.

The Men’s Prayer Breakfast is on the second Saturday morning of each month at 8 a.m. Men of all ages are welcome to attend for a good home-cooked breakfast, fellowship and prayer. See Julian Gander for more information.

Several copies of the church cookbook “Cooking With Grace” are still available. The books are hard-back and contain over 250 favorite recipes from church members. These make wonderful Christmas gifts or keepsakes to treasure. Books are $10 each and profit from the sale goes to help with the monthly Food Distribution Ministry here at Grace. See Jeanne Brown, Dana Muse or Kathy Coffee to purchase cookbooks.

The D-Now (Discipleship Now) Weekend will be Oct. 26-28. This is an in-home weekend retreat for youth in grades 7-12. Registration is needed by Oct. 17. See Steven Newton for more information.

Sunday school (Life Groups) meet on Sunday mornings at 10, followed by morning worship service at 11 a.m. On Wednesday evening, adult Bible studies, children and youth groups meet at 7 p.m. A meal is served for the children and youth beginning at 6:15 p.m.

For more information, call (606) 365-0502, or check out the website at GraceFellowshipStanford.com.

WITHDRAWAL

nel shake-up in Hustonville in less than a year. In addition to Maddox's resignation and Spivey's withdrawal, Carol Hill stepped down as Hustonville city attorney on Oct. 2.
Hill said she had planned to resign her post earlier in the year to spend more time with her family, but agreed to stay on while Spivey learned the ropes.

Hill said on Oct. 2 that because Spivey was running unopposed, the mayor felt comfortable hiring a new city attorney before the end of his current term.
The Interior Journal could not get a comment from Spivey on who the next city attorney would be or how the transition to the next mayor would work. Spivey told a reporter Tuesday morning he was uninterested in answering any questions on any topic.
Doss said if elected as Hustonville's next mayor, his first focus would be assessing what has been going on inside the city's government.

"I don't know what the story is right now," he said. "I don't know the circumstances. There's more behind something than just up and quitting."
"I feel about like a little boy reaching in a bag and there's a pig in there," Doss said. "You don't know what you got until you pull it out of there."

access will not be affected. And by keeping small post offices open, small communities can keep their zip codes that are part of their local identity, according to the press release.

The reduction in retail window hours is expected to be completed nationwide by 2014, saving the financially failing USPS an estimated $500 million annually.

"The Post Office's design is that it will still be there for customers," Richey said. "It's a way to keep these small post offices open and serving customers."

said during the hearing that the road closure causes an unacceptable delay when Hustonville volunteer fire-fighters are responding to emergencies in the city of 365 residents. Also, the Hustonville department often helps other agencies in Moreland and Stanford.
Lane, also a member of Hustonville City Council, said he used a fire truck to estimate the delay caused by the road closure at about three minutes.

Gray acknowledged during the hearing that the 100-year-old building as it stands could not be operated as a business, but said he has made many efforts to repair the building that have been rebuffed by city officials.
"I've been very open," Gray said. "... I feel they want the building gone."
Spivey said Gray discussed a number of possible resolutions, but in the end they were "just ideas."
"Some demolition work has been done but no repairs," Spivey said.
Gray said bringing the building up to the city's standards would cost about $93,000 and the property itself is worth only about $5,000.

"There is no more loose brick and the hole has been remedied," Gray said. "The entire building has been gutted."
Gray and his attorney said the Hustonville Haunted House is not a fire hazard, an assessment with which city and county officials disagree.
Powers said at the end of the hearing that he hoped to render a decision within 10 to 15 days.

Sheriff finds suitcase meth lab in Crab Orchard woods

CRAB ORCHARD — The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office is looking for anyone with information about a meth lab found Friday in a wooded area off of Old Fall Lick Road in Crab Orchard.
Acting on a tip, Sheriff Curt Folger and Deputy Bill Hester found the lab at about 2:30 p.m. in a blue suitcase, about 50 yards from the road along a four-wheeler trail.
According to a press release, the suitcase contained meth-manufacturing supplies, including lye, tubing and camping fuel.
Anyone with information about the meth lab is encouraged to call the sheriff's office at (606) 365-2696.

Sheriff warns against mail scam

STANFORD — Lincoln County residents who have received letters claiming they have won money in a lottery may be targets of a mail scam, according to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.
The suspected letters state that the recipient has won a large sum of money through a computerized drawing.

The letter includes a check that will supposedly pay taxes on the winnings and advises the reader to wait for further instructions in order to receive the winnings.
With the help of a bank, the sheriff's office has identified the letter as a fraud. Residents are encouraged not to give out any information.

Man injured in ATV accident

STANFORD — A man was listed in fair condition Tuesday following an all-terrain vehicle accident Sunday afternoon.
The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office was dispatched to the scene on Fishing Creek in Lincoln County about 2:45 p.m.
Gavin Turpin, 25, was transported to the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center in Lexington following the accident.
No further details are available from the sheriff's department.

husband were considering where they would like to relocate after deciding to leave the west coast. "Rolling hills, lush green grass — it looked perfect for horses."

Ladwig has a pair of day jobs, working as a hygienist and running Maple Swamp Farm, which offers horse breeding and training services.

But Ladwig is also a prolific painter, focusing much of her artistic efforts on capturing horses on canvas. "I grew up with horses. Some people like dogs, cats, I just like horses," she said. "They're just beautiful; they're majestic. Although they're 1,200 pounds, you can train them and they'll be your best friend."

Ladwig has been sketching horses since she was a little kid. That hobby grew into something more about 13 years ago, when she began painting on canvas. A rancher in California asked Ladwig to paint a very small photo he had of himself and his family onto a larger canvas.

"I said, 'well sir, I don't even have paint brushes,'" she said.

The rancher gave her $50 for supplies, and she worked for two months on completing the painting.

She used oil paints for the rancher's painting, but found the drying time slowed down her creative juices too much. As she continued to paint, she switched to acrylics, which allow her to finish a painting in a single day if she chooses to.

Ladwig said in her earlier paintings, she focused on realism, attempting to make her creations look like photographs. Now, she's added some impressionism in and likes to use brilliant colors.

"Over the years I've noticed that I just love bold colors and the suggestion of a shape more than being so perfect," she said. "I will let the viewer read into Ladwig's art has been featured at the Bluebird restaurant in Stanford and is currently on display in at least two galleries, including the Maple Tree Gallery in Danville. Among her other artistic accomplishments, Ladwig has designed a stylistic horse image for a Lexington thoroughbred show poster and sold one of her paintings to someone in Great Britain.

Ladwig said living in Kentucky means she and her husband Milo are far from their families, who still live in Poland and California, respectively.

But it's also brought them and their two children — Ada, 10, and Eli, 8 — that much closer together. And the friendly culture in Kentucky is wonderful.

"I love the Bible Belt," she said. "It's just good people. It's a good place to live. California is a good place to go to visit."

Lincoln wins key district matchup 24-14 over Southwestern Warriors

By Nancy Leedy

SOMERSET – The high school football post-season is still three weeks away, but for Lincoln County, the play-offs have already started.

Fourth place and a playoff berth in Class 5A, District 7 were on the line here Friday night, and the Patriots did their part to make sure their season is extended by defeating Southwestern 24-14 at the Reservation.

“Our kids knew the importance of this game. They had a choice to make and they chose to play to win tonight,” Lincoln coach Mike Settles said. “(Southwestern) is a team that last year knocked us out of winning the district championship, and to knock them out of making the playoffs feels pretty darn good.”

Lincoln (5-4, 2-2 district) led 14-0 at halftime and thwarted a second-half Warrior comeback effort to secure the fourth-place spot.

Marvin Robinson, who had a game-high 118 yards on 28 carries, got the Patriots’ scoring started. Both teams fumbled away their opening possessions, but Lincoln hit paydirt on its second drive with Robinson finishing off the 70-yard series with a 12-yard scoring run with 9:14 still to play in the first quarter.

Both offenses stumbled after the opening score, with

LINCOLN'S Dalton Godbey and another Patriot defender rush in to grab a fumble away from Southwestern's Logan Campisano in the third quarter of the 24-14 win over the Warriors Friday night.

Southwestern either punting or fumbling the ball while Lincoln punted and threw it away.

Boone Baird, Lincoln’s placekicker, tried to end the foibles and build on the lead when he attempted a 50-yard field goal in the second quarter. However, the kick fell just a couple yards short of the uprights.

The Patriots would put up points on their next possession. Lincoln fielded a Southwestern punt at the Warriors’ 36-yard line and needed just eight plays to reach the end zone. Justin Hubble completed a 14-yard pass to Trevor Gaines on the drive and Robinson ran for a first down before Hubble connected with Austin Cress for a 5-yard touchdown pass and a 14-0 lead with 1:44 left in the half.

Hubble finished 8-for-13 passing for the night for 64 yards.

“We had to improve our passing game and we did that tonight,” Settles said. “We had some play-action that we worked on. I just love the way that it opens up our running game, as well. If we have success throwing the ball like that, that softens up the defense a little more and we have more effectiveness running the football.”

The 14-0 halftime margin would be Lincoln’s biggest lead of the night. Southwestern (3-5, 1-3) wasted little time making a dent in the Patriot lead as the second half got under way.

Jesse Meece returned the opening kickoff 30 yards to the Lincoln 47, and Logan Campisano carried the ball the rest of the way. The junior running back, who led Southwestern with 86 yards rushing, picked up most of those yards on the third-quarter drive, capping it off with a 2-yard touchdown.

Austin Smiddy added the two-point conversion run to make it 14-8.

“I could tell their kids got challenged at halftime and they just responded. And our kids didn’t,” Settles said. “It gets me so frustrated because we talked about that stuff, and how we needed it

Lincoln County goes 2-1 in 12th Region tourneys

Volleyball

Lincoln falls 3-0 to Burgin in first round

By Nancy Leedy

HARRODSBURG – Last year, Lincoln ousted Burgin in a sweep in the first round of volleyball regionals.

On Monday, Burgin did the same to Lincoln, eliminating the Lady Patriots 3-0 in the first round of the 12th Region Tournament at Mercer County Senior High.

Burgin, the 46th District runner-up, knocked 45th District champion Lincoln out of postseason contention by rolling 25-11, 25-16, 25-18.

The loss ends Lincoln’s season at 15-15.

“(Season) does have to end somewhere. We’re just sad that it was tonight,” Lincoln coach Amanda Massey-Wiles said. “We were hoping to have performed better to keep advancing. But, unfortunately, it wasn’t going to happen for us tonight.”

Burgin (22-13), which was to meet four-time defending regional champion Southwestern (27-10) in Wednesday’s semifinals, trailed only once Monday – with Lincoln winning the first point of the match. The Lady Bulldogs then scored the next four points of the first set as they began to pull away. Burgin led by as many as 14 points before taking the set 25-11.

It was more of the same in set 2, although the Lady Patriots did rally briefly. Burgin led 20-10 before Lincoln came battling back. Ciara Saylor held service for five points as Lincoln pulled within 20-15 but Southwestern would answer

Patriots advance to semifinals with 5-1 win over Somerset

By Nancy Leedy

HARRODSBURG – The Lincoln County boys soccer team knows the importance of a fast start. And a team can’t start much faster than the Patriots did Tuesday night.

Lincoln’s first rush down the field resulted in a goal just 31 seconds into the game. And the Patriots went on to score three more unanswered goals as they ousted Somerset 5-1 in the 12th Region Tournament quarterfinal round at Mercer County.

“I think that kind of shocked them,” Lincoln goalkeeper Ian Blevins said of the quick point. “I think we kind of let them know that we’re in charge by scoring that fast.”

Lincoln coach Chaz Garcia agreed that the quick goal was a key factor in the regional win, the first ever in the history of Patriot soccer.

“Any time you score like that, you just put yourself in a really good position,” he said. “We’re playing now to stay ahead and they’re trying to get back in the game. That’s crucial for anybody.”

Carl-Lewis Cummins converted on the goal after a Lincoln throw in, taking the pass and dribbling it in front of goal for the quick kick and a 1-0 Patriot lead.

And Lincoln (12-6-0) never looked back.

“They really wanted this,” Garcia said. “I think losing our Senior Night and then turning around and losing in the district championship ... they’re just hungry. I think, if we keep playing like this, we’ll put up a good fight all the way to the end. They’re hungry and they want it.”

While Lincoln never relinquished its lead, Somerset (10-8-2) didn’t go down without a fight. The Briar Jumpers played keep away after the opening goal, and pounded in the shots on Blevins throughout the first half. Somerset got six of its total eight shots on goal in the period.

“They pounded and pounded. They didn’t stop their fight, at all. They kept on going,” said Garcia.

Blevins, who had seven saves for the game, notched five saves in the first half as Somerset kept him on alert.

“We had a little bit of a struggle possessing the ball after the goal and they took some good shots,” Blevins said. “They had a lot of break-aways, but I just did what I know how to do – stop the shots.”

Garcia realizes just how important it was for Blevins to “stop the shots.”

“He’s really come along. He’s made some remarkable saves for us,” Garcia said. “Boyle County, he had a huge game there. We did lose that game, but he had some really big time saves. Tonight, again, big time saves. All it

Lady Patriots get first-ever regional win

By Nancy Leedy

Monday night many soccer teams across the state saw their seasons come to a close in regional play.

Not the Lincoln County girls team.

The Lady Patriot soccer team defeated Southwestern 2-0 in the quarterfinal round of the 12th Region Tournament at Boyle County Monday for the program’s first-ever regional tournament win.

Micheala Sebastian kicked in what proved to be the game-winning goal with 15:38 to play in the first half. The junior midfielder left-footed the cross kick in from 20 yards out on Southwestern goalkeeper Kaylee Shepherd.

Sebastian was actually the second Lady Patriot to get into goal in the first half, but only her shot counted. Just seconds before Sebastian’s goal, Rachel Spangler scored off a free kick, however, the goal was nullified. Spangler’s kick hit the cross bar of the soccer goal then deflected off the football goal posts above before falling into the net. Because the ball hit the cross bar of the football goal posts it was ruled out of bounds and the goal did not count.

The Lady Patriots (15-4-2) would add another goal in the second half, with Maddie Adams picking up the score with just 2:32 to play. The Lincoln junior had just missed a penalty kick opportunity but followed her miss with a put-back from 7 yards out for the 2-0 final.

Lincoln falls 2-0 to Danville in district final

By Hal Morris

hmmorris@amnews.com

LANCASTER – The Lincoln County boys soccer team had chances Wednesday.

But the Patriots could not find the back of the net and fell 2-0 to Danville in the 45th District final at Garrard County.

Lincoln coach Chaz Garcia knew his team missed prime opportunities to have a chance to tie the game.

“They scored when they could score, and we didn’t when we could have. I don’t think we got beat, they just won,” Garcia said. “I’m extremely proud of them. They fought hard, I don’t think anybody thought it would be like it was tonight. I think we’ll take this, we’ll take some notes from this and take it into region.”

“I think emotions are flowing right now. They really wanted this win, but they didn’t get it. Now we have to go into a tough regional.”

Raul Martinez scored first for the Admirals (10-7-2), netting his first goal of the season with a little more than 12 minutes left in the first half Wednesday, and that proved to be enough for the Admirals.

With 12:24 to play in the first half, Martinez took a pass from Christian Gateskill-Fuqua just outside the penalty box on the left side and lofted a shot that hit the top of the right post and bounced in to give Danville a 1-0 lead and set a off a huge celebration as Martinez was mobbed by his teammates.

“I thought it was going to go out because the goalie (Ian Blevins) touched it,” Martinez said. “But when it hit the post, my heart just raced when I made it. To be honest, I thought it was going to go over.”

Danville coach Brent Beaman said that goal proved to be huge as the game went on.

“We had to score early and we had to score first because I knew he had them pumped up, and I knew how much they wanted to beat us,” he said. “The longer we could keep the game even, the tougher it would be.”

Danville added a second goal in the second half as Carson Coulter scored just his second goal of the season when he netted a shot near the goal off an assist from Dylan Mullins with 23:37 to play.

Lincoln (11-5) had its chances, too, but could not capitalize on them.

With 21:08 to play, Danville’s Damir Karapandzic was called for a high kick in the penalty box, but goalkeeper Matt Oster made a diving stop of Carter Dunn’s penalty kick to keep the score at 1-0. Then with 13:35 to go, Dunn had a long free kick which hit the upper left post, but unlike Martinez’s shot, it did not fall in.

Danville outshot Lincoln 19-7, and both teams move on to next week’s 12th Region Tournament at Mercer County, where the Admirals will go for their fourth straight regional title. Beaman said the test they got Wednesday will help next week.

“Chaz has done an awesome job. (Former coach) Wendy (Peters) got them going, the last two years they were in the region, and Chaz has continued to bring them on,” Beaman said of Lincoln. “We’ve got some good competition in the region, but if we fight like we were tonight we might have a chance against the Wests (Jessamines) and the Mercers.”

takes is that one big save. If they score, that could completely turn the game around.”

“By him keeping that from happening, you know, (game’s) still going our way and the flow stayed with us.”

Blevins did leave the game with a knee injury midway of the first half after being run over by a charging Somerset player, but he wasn’t sidelined for long.

“It wasn’t really anything,” said Blevins. “I knew it was just one of those ‘go out and check it, and come back in.’”

Lincoln, which outshot Somerset 21-8, did start to control the ball in the first half and take the pressure off Blevins, getting 10 shots on goal before halftime.

And two more goals were the result.

Carter Dunn scored on a breakaway with 12:15 to go in the first half to make it a 2-0 ball game.

The margin was 3-0 at the break, with Blake Henderson punching in a shot on Somerset goalkeeper Brandon Patterson with 6:42 to go. Henderson fielded a pass from the left wing, centered the ball then booted it into the back of the net.

Cummins came through with his second goal of the game early in the second half. Jake Dunn passed the ball in from the right corner to a charging Cummins who boomed in the shot to extend Lincoln’s lead to 4-0 just 7 minutes into the half.

Somerset was finally able to interrupt Lincoln’s scoring run as the clock ticked under 5 minutes, with Nick Henry getting a shot past Blevins to deny Lincoln the shutout. “I don’t know what happened at the end there. I really don’t,” Garcia said. “I guess we just had a miscommunication, and they got one in. Kind of feel bad for them because we’ve really been harping about getting a shutout, keeping it clean.”

Somerset would be held to the one goal, but Lincoln would score one more time. Carter Dunn got to go one-on-one with Patterson on the penalty kick after Somerset was whistled for a push in the goal box. Dunn’s low kick to the left corner went untouched.

Tuesday’s win set Lincoln up for a rematch with West Jessamine. The Colts (13-10-1) defeated Lincoln 6-3 in the Berea Cup during the regular season, but the Patriots were short some players due to injury and eligibility. In Wednesday night’s semifinal game, Garcia expects a different Lincoln team.

“With our flow the way it is right now, having our guys the way we have them, I would say we are definitely going to come out ... West Jessamine’s going to have to really play their hearts out to beat us tomorrow,” he said.

Results from Wednesday night’s Lincoln-West Jessamine game were unavailable at press time.

Girls 45th Soccer Boyle shuts out Lincoln for sixth straight title

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD — The Lincoln County girls soccer team's hopes for a first-ever district title were dashed Wednesday night as the Boyle County girls collected their sixth straight district title by defeating the host Lady Patriots 4-0 in the 45th District Tournament final.

"The score doesn't say how close of a game it was," Lincoln coach Andrew Kaiser said. "I felt like our girls played hard. We had a couple break downs here and there but, for the most part, we played hard and played well. Give all credit to Boyle County. They're a good team and they really played well."

The No. 21 Lady Rebels, winners of the 29th District the past five seasons, easily transitioned to the redistricted 45th, sweeping the competition along the way to the championship-game shutout — Boyle's 12th of the season.

"We've been doing a good job the last four, five years of really focusing on team defense," Boyle coach Brian Deem said. "I challenged our kids tonight. I said, 'We've faced Danville. We've faced Mercer. And we've faced Lincoln now for the second time. All three of their goal scorers were previewed early in the preseason as being their studs — can we shut them out?' Up to tonight we had, and we were able to keep Rachel (Spangler) off the boards tonight. They responded to the challenge tonight, they really did."

Boyle, which also defeated Lincoln 4-0 in the preseason, never trailed in the post-season rematch, with senior Hannah Harris, who led the Lady Rebels with two goals, tallying her first goal just 9 minutes into the championship game.

Deem credited his Lady Rebels (13-5-3) for a strong start, and also the Lady Patriots (13-4-2) for not backing down.

"It was a great win, but it wasn't as easy as the score says. Andrew (Kaiser) had his girls ready to play," Deem said. "I thought we did a good job in the first nine minutes when we scored and went up 1-0, but then our play kind of fell off. We got very complacent and expected Lincoln to maybe back down."

SO CLOSE. Lady Patriot Kristen Meece came oh-so-close to getting this shot past Boyle defender Logan Arnold (12) and goalkeeper Keeley Naylor in the 45th District final loss at Lincoln County.

"Hats off to them. They fought through and they came after us. They never quit and that's the sign of a good coach and a good group of girls."

Harris scored the opening goal off a corner kick. Chelsea Gill fielded the kick in front of goal, took a shot and missed, and Harris was there to punch the ball back in on Lincoln goalkeeper Jerrica Kidd.

Boyle, after outshooting Lincoln 5-0 in the first nine minutes, finished with just a 7-5 edge at halftime as the Lady Patriots battled back offensively, however, the Lady Rebels held tight to their 1-0 lead.

The two offenses traded possessions and several missed shots before Boyle sophomore Alexis Kerbaugh ended the defensive standoff with a lofting shot into goal. After three close calls off corner kicks, Kerbaugh was able to convert for Boyle in the 50th minute, booting in a high shot from left of goal into the top right corner.

"We made some adjustments at halftime and were able to get that second goal. Kerbaugh's goal was a beautiful shot that she had," said Deem. "That was the momentum swing right there because, at that point, it was anybody's ball game. At that point, I think it kind of overwhelmed them and took the wind out of their sails."

Lincoln was unable to wage much offensive threat over the remainder of the game.

The Lady Patriots' best scoring chance of the night came on a Kristen Meece shot from 10 yards out that went just wide left with 22 minutes remaining in the game.

Gill, a senior, got into goal for Boyle with 10:38 to play, heading in a direct kick, and Harris finished out the night's scoring just three minutes later for the 4-0 final.

"It's a tough loss," Kaiser said. "They (Lady Pats) were excited about being here tonight. They wanted to win. I wanted to win. But we didn't. Hopefully we'll see them in the region. Region starts Monday and we're looking forward to it."

with a 5-1 run to earn the 25-16 set 2 win.

Massey-Wiles said Burgin didn't show the Lady Patriots anything they hadn't seen in a 3-1 loss to the Lady Bulldogs in the regular season.

"We expected what they had to offer. We spent some time trying to prepare for the match and hopefully be set up to handle Burgin's offense - which is pretty tight," she said. "Unfortunately, we just weren't able to execute. Unforced errors, particularly passing, hurt us. Our passes just weren't clean enough tonight. Passing is a fundamental for everything and, because we weren't able to clean up our passes, it was very difficult to execute our offense."

The Lincoln mentor said she also felt tournament jitters may have hindered the Lady Patriots' performance.

"I think we were just a little tight. Region play is very different from district or in-season play and so we played tight for the first two sets and we were just unable to recover," she said.

Lincoln did challenge

Burgin more in the third set of the best-of-5 match, but it was too little too late as the Lady Bulldogs put away the Lady Pats 25-18 for the match win.

"If we had been able to kick in a little bit earlier, I think things would have been different. But it just took us too long to get started," Massey-Wiles said. "We tried to get a little momentum going but it was too much to overcome. If slow start hadn't gotten us ... tonight that's just what happened, and we just have to go on and learn from it for next year."

"At least we can take stock in the fact that the girls worked really hard and earned that district championship that they worked so hard for and just hang onto that."

Monday's season-ending loss was the last for seniors Vanessa Conley, Samantha Douglas, Breyanna Hoover, Mikki McElroy and Ciara Saylor.

"Last year Lincoln County volleyball took a hit losing four really incredible seniors, and this year we lose five really incredible seniors," Massey-Wiles said. "It's hard for them and it's hard on the team."

The closeness of the 2012 Lincoln squad resulted in a lengthy postgame crying session as the Lady Patriots bid farewell to the season and the seniors.

"It's been quite a blessing working with this team this year because they are so close. They are like family," Massey-Wiles said. "That worked really well for us as a team and in the season, but has made it hard to see the season end. It's difficult for them to deal with the fact that not only is the season over but they won't get to spend time with family."

to go 3-and-out. Our goal is to start the second half 3-and-out against a team.”

“We didn’t do that. They scored and got some momentum, and went for two and got it. That’s when we knew we were in for a battle. I mean, Southwestern’s well-coached. They’re tough. They’re physical. And they showed it on that one drive there.”

Lincoln got back the touchdown on its next possession, going 57 yards in 10 plays. The drive culminated in a 2-yard touchdown run by Connor Patterson.

Patterson, who rushed for 50 yards on 13 carries, knew that Lincoln had the ability to hold off the Warriors.

“Felt confident that we could do the same thing after the half,” he said. “We just had to keep playing hard and show them whose boss.”

Lincoln held onto its lead but the Warriors would add one more score. Smiddy captained a drive from the Southwestern 30 all the way down to the Lincoln 19 only to fumble a snap for a 9-yard loss. The sophomore quarterback, who went 2-for-7 overall with one interception, made up for the fumble on the following play, hitting James Vinson for a 28-yard touchdown pass for a 21-14 ball game at the end of the third quarter.

How to pest proof your home

One of the best ways to limit unwanted intrusions by insects, rodents, birds, squirrels and other pests is to deny them entry - a procedure known as pest proofing. Many pests seek refuge in homes and buildings in response to changes in weather, such as extended periods of rain or drought, or the onset of cooler autumn temperatures. Taking steps to block their entry before they end up inside can greatly reduce the chances of future sightings.

I want to give you six useful tips for best proofing one's home or place of business:

- *install door sweeps or thresholds at the base of all exterior entry doors. Gaps of 1/16" or less will permit entry of insects and spiders. 1/4" wide gaps (the diameter of a pencil) are large enough for mice to get in, 1/2" gaps are adequate for rats to get inside. Pay particular attention to the bottom corners of doors as this is often where rodents and insects enter. Apply caulk along bottom outside edge and sides of door thresholds to exclude ants and other small insects.

- *seal utility openings where pipes and wires enter the foundation and siding around outdoor faucets, receptacles, gas meters, clothes dryer vents and telephone/cable TV wires. These are common entry points for such pests as rodents, ants, spiders and yellow jackets. Holes can be plugged with caulk, cement, urethane expandable foam, steel wool or other suitable sealant.

- *caulk cracks around windows, doors, fascia boards, etc., use a good quality silicone or acrylic latex caulk.

- *repair gaps and tears in window and door screens. Doing so will help reduce entry of flies, gnats, mosquitoes and midges during summer, and cluster flies, lady beetles and other overwintering pests in autumn.

- *install 1/4" wire mesh (hardware cloth) over attic roof and crawl space vents in order to prevent entry of birds, bats, squirrels, rodents and other wildlife. Invest in a chimney cap to exclude birds, squirrels, raccoons, and other nuisance wildlife.

- *consider applying an exterior (barrier) insecticide treatment. While sealing is the more permanent way to exclude pests originating from outdoors, comprehensive pest proofing is labor intensive and sometimes impractical. An alternative, pest proofing can be supplemented by an exterior treatment with an insecticide. Homeowners will get the most for their efforts by applying longer lasting liquid formulations containing synthetic pyrethroids or slow release insecticides sold at hardware, lawn and garden shops and farm supply stores.

Apply with a pump-up sprayer or a hose end sprayer treating at the base of all exterior doors, garage, and crawl space entrances, around the foundation vents and utility openings, and up underneath siding. It may also be useful to treat around the outside perimeter of the foundation in a six foot wide band along the ground and three feet up the foundation wall. When all else fails, a vacuum cleaner or broom is often the best response to the occasional bug that wanders in from outdoors.

Farm to School Week spotlights local foods in schools

Fresh, local Kentucky Proud foods in schools help students maintain healthy weights and strong bodies while enabling farmers to make a living, Agriculture Commissioner James Comer said in proclaiming Oct. 22-26 Farm to School Week in Kentucky.

"More and more Kentucky schools are buying foods from local farmers to serve to their students," Commissioner Comer said. "The Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Farm to School Program helps schools connect with local producers. The schools buy fresh produce and meats to serve to their students. The farmers get another market for their products."

Thirty-one Kentucky

school districts that participate consistently in the Farm to School Program spent some $280,000 on local foods during the 2011-2012 school year. Those school districts serve approximately 325,000 students. A total of 84 school districts are members of the Kentucky Proud program, which helps Kentucky farmers market their products.

"Fruits and vegetables grown locally and served at their peak of freshness are more nutritious than produce trucked in from across the country or across the border," Commissioner Comer said. "In a time when cases of overweight and obese children are at epidemic levels, it's more important than ever that we provide our children with the best foods."

More than one-third of all Kentucky children are overweight or obese, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported. As a result, some Kentucky children are suffering from diseases normally seen in adults, such as Type 2 diabetes, hypertension, heart disease, and arthritis, the National Governors Association wrote in a 2010 report. Obese adolescents are up to 80 percent more likely to be obese as adults and will be at greater risk of health problems, the NGA report said.

Southern States to hold annual meeting

Southern States Cooperative will review its operations at a series of local annual meetings, including the upcoming meeting for members of Southern States Cooperative, Inc. - Central, KY Service - Boyle, Harrodsburg and Stanford Branches.

"Fiscal 2012 was an extremely challenging year for Southern States Cooperative," says President and CEO Thomas R. Scribner. "The winter of 2012 was the mildest since 1932 and the second warmest since 1895. The warm temperatures significantly impacted our earnings, as agricultural producers needed less feed related products and rural homeowners burned fewer gallons of home heating fuels. During Fiscal 2013, the corporate direction will be to focus on the entire customer experience for current, new and prospective customers. It is our belief that with a customer focused sales strategy, 2013 will be a great year."

Southern States Cooperative, Inc. - Central KY Service will hold its annual membership meeting on Thursday, Oct. 25, at 1244 Lebanon Road, Danville. The business meeting will begin at 1 p.m.

The Cooperative's management will use the meeting to report on both local and company-wide operations, as well as projected budget results for next year. Local board members will be elected and retiring board members will be recognized.

Board nominees include: Boyle Branch - Gary Gilbert, Matthew Nolan; Harrodsburg Branch - Stephen C. Bailey, Tommy Tribble.

"The annual meeting is the best single opportunity to outline our plans for the future to our membership and discuss our progress in meeting our financial goals," notes Steve Anderson, overall manager of Southern States Cooperative, Inc. - Central, KY Service. The Board of Directors, management and employees of Southern States continue to be thankful for your business and dedication.

Founded in 1923, Southern States now has more than 300,000 farmer-members. As one of the nation's largest agricultural cooperatives, the Richmond, Va. based firm provides a wide range of farm inputs, including fertilizer, seed, livestock feed and pet food, animal health supplies and petroleum products, as well as other items for the farm and home. The Cooperative serves its members and non-member customers through some 1,200 retail outlets.

Training class available for iPad and iPhone users

If you want to know more about Apple's iPad or iPhone, or just want to make sure you are getting the maximum use from these mobile devices, The Center for Rural Development is hosting a one-day-only introductory training class on Monday, Oct. 29 to help get you up to speed on some of today's hottest, cutting-edge mobile communication tools.

Instructor DeAnna Proctor, information technology manager at Somerset Community College, will provide step-by-step instructions and hands-on demonstrations on how to use Apple's revolutionary iPad and iPhone—from the basic functions and features to downloading and using applications.

This one-day training class will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at The Center, located at 2292 South U.S. 27 (at Traffic Light 15) in Somerset. The training opportunity is part of the exclusive instructor-led and online training classes presented through The Center's Your Center of Learning business and workplace skills training program.

"I use an iPhone and iPad every day and couldn't do many of the things on the go that are related to my position without them," said Proctor, who has worked in the Information Technology Department at Somerset Community College for the last 12 years. "With the latest mobile technology, I have access to work and personal information, music, movies, and the Internet all on one device wherever I go."

During the class, students will learn how to identify the device buttons, switches and status icons on their iPad; learn typing techniques using onscreen keyboard and editing features; be taught the multi-touch function using scrolling finger dynamics; learn how to use Safari; receive an overview of built-in applications and the Apple iTunes Store; learn to use the iBooks app to download and read books; and much more.

"Learning all the bells and whistles on your new iPad or iPhone can be overwhelming for first-time users," said Robyn Phillips, training and e-learning services coordinator for The Center. "We hope to simplify that process and, along the way, teach you some new, time-saving features to help get the most from these mobile devices."

Visit a Kentucky farm for your family's Halloween needs

With Halloween rapidly approaching, Agriculture Commissioner James Comer encourages Kentucky families to treat their little ghosts and goblins to a visit to an orchard or u-pick pumpkin farm.

"You can go to a Kentucky farm and find the perfect pumpkin for your family's needs," Commissioner Comer said. "In the process, you can help a Kentucky farm family earn a living."

The Comer family visited Evans Orchard in Georgetown and took home farm-fresh pumpkins for their Halloween celebration. Many orchards and u-pick pumpkin patches depend on brisk sales during the Halloween season, state Agritourism Director Ben Shaffar said.

Kentucky farm destinations also offer hayrides, live entertainment, corn mazes, trail rides, wine tastings, and many other activities. Many also have Kentucky Proud foods that visitors can enjoy on site or take home.

A directory of agritourism destinations is available at www.kentuckyfarmsarefun.com. Users can search the database by region or type of attraction.

For more information on agritourism in Kentucky, contact Ben Shaffar at (502) 564-4983 or ben.shaffar@ky.gov.
